

UPC 50th ANNIVERSARY

Introduction:

In March 2021 the Universitat Politècnica de Catalunya - BarcelonaTech (UPC) will celebrate its 50th anniversary. Created in March 1971 as the Polytechnic University of Barcelona, in 1984 it changed its name to the current one.

After half a century, UPC is preparing to celebrate this event by setting the theme of the 17 United Nations Global Development Goals, an agenda for 2030 focused on economic growth, social inclusion and environmental protection.

The UPC teaching centers, involved in the 50th anniversary celebration, have proposed different activities that will be part of the program. From the Campus of Vilanova of the UPC the celebratory events will take place during the month of October 2020. As material for these celebratory events will be the one developed in this project proposal.

Project Brief:

It is intended to make a model with the current state of the Vilanova Campus of the Polytechnic University of Catalonia, commemorating the 50th anniversary. This model will be accompanied by 3D views of the spaces. It is also intended to create a video from images of the evolution of the Campus that serves as a 50th anniversary promotional material.

To carry out this work, access to 3D printers, laser cutter, milling machine and all the necessary tools to facilitate its physical construction will be provided. Existing material will also be provided to facilitate a good final result (plans of the buildings, old images of the Campus facilities, etc.).

In addition to what has been described above, different objects will also be designed for the decoration of the 50th anniversary celebration.
